IDAHO MINE HAS NOTABLE STORY OF ACHIEVEMENT

The story of the Iadho Maryland group of mines forms a romantic chapter in the history of Grass Valley—that little depression in the foothills of Nevada county, California, where two of the greatest gold mines in the world, the Empire and North Star, are located. Its record is no less romantic than that of these two latter properties, of which the Empire has been worked continuously since 1850. The history dates almost as far back.

"Why," as one of them said many times and in many countries, "look for gold mines abroad, when we have a better mine than them all in California itself".

Yet there never has been any secret as to the wealth of this property. Mining men all the world over have spoken of the "Idaho Maryland Ore Shoot," from which almost $19,000,000 were taken in thirty years, and from which over $7,000,000 were paid in dividends.

One hundred and fifty feet below the surface this great vein, or ore shoot, was discovered. It ran from there down to the 1800-foot level, if one measures vertically. On the slant, however, it ran for 5500 feet. On no level was the length of this vein less than 750 feet. The thickness of the vein was an average of 2 feet 6 inches. From 1863 to 1893, the average value of the ore extracted was $20.23 a ton.

Down the ore body ran to a vertical depth of 1800 feet, where it stopped, or "pinched out," as the miners say. They sank for another 200 feet and found no continuation of the vein. The decided that the property was worked out

It is easy to speak of the "great Idaho Maryland Ore Shoot". Let us see, however, how it measures up with the performance of the two other Grass Valley mines, the Empire and the North Star. There can be no question of their record.

The Empire mine has been worked without break since 1850. To the end of 1927, it had produced over $50,000,000 of gold, with a profit exceeding $15,000,000. It is working today below the 7000-foot level. Yet from the surface to the 2000-foot level, below which the Idaho Maryland mines have not gone, the Empire mine recovered only $6,000,000 in gold.

Take the North Star mine, it is reputed to be one of the deepest worked mines in the world, having reached the 8600-foot level by the end of 1927. Its record is almost as impressive as that of the Empire mine, for between 1896 and 1927, gold production amounted to over $40,000,000, with profits exceeding $10,000,000. From the surface, however, to the 2000-foot level, this mine only produced $5,000,000 of gold.

Contrast this with over $18,000,000 taken from the aIdaho Maryland roe shoot to the 2000-foot level, and over $7,000,000 paid in dividends. In other words, down to this level more was paid in dividends to the stockholders of the Idaho Maryland mines than the total gold production of either the Empire and North Star mines, noted for their richness all the world over.

If therefore these two great properties have extracted by far their greatest gold production below the 2000-foot level, it is no bold claim to assert that the Idaho Maryland mines will do the same. Nevertheless, many ore bodies have been opened up by the latter group within the last two or three years above the 2000-foot level, this showing being so good that it probably will not be necessary to go below that depth. The property of the Idaho Maryland mines is 1250 acres in area, only a very small part of which has been more than proved.

Let us go back a little and trace the history of the Idaho Maryland group of mines from its beginnings.

Back in '49, the work of the early miners was confined entirely to placer mining. Along every curve of the hills and bend of the

MINING NUMBER IS NOW READY DISTRIBUTION

The special mining number of The Nugget covering every phase of mining activity in Nevada and Sierra counties was off the press Friday and is already receiving a wide distribution. There si every indication that the issue of 5000 copies will be exhausted in the next few weeks and those citizens who are desirous of obtaining a few extra copies to send away will do well to place their order at once. The copies will be laid aside until called for if you prefer.

Those who have looked over the edition so far, have expressed themselves as highly pleased with with the appearance of the edition which is printed on fine book paper throughout at considerable expense. One of the first business men to come forward voluntarily with his appreciation of what the issue is intended to accomplish, was Fred F. Cassidy, genial manager of the Alpha Stores and one who is an ardent booster for Nevada City and ready at all times to do his bit to put things over. Mr. Cassidy said, "You have produced an issue that is a distinct credit to Nevada county in every way". Such a remark coming from Mr. Casidy is indeed appreciated.

A copy is available for every paid subscriber of The Nugget at the present time. If you have not received yours please call at this office and get it so as not to be disappointed.

SIERRA COUNTY MINING

The old Triple Pocket quartz property in Slug Canyon, owned and operated in former years by the Rosenfelt interests, and recently bought by Addison Brown and Con York, is being reopened by the new owners. Surface development work has resulted in a good showing along contact. A flume 1650 feet in length is being constructed, water for which is to be taken from Slug Creek.

While the former owners took in the neighborhood of $200,000 from this mine, it was never properly or fully developed, gouging methods having been used to get out a number of rich bunches of ore. The new owners plan to work the property in a thorough and systematic way. Mr. York, one of the present owners, was the original locator of the mine.

Otto Nestler is engaged in opening up his placer property, the Young Strap mine, located on Alabama Hill. A slide two years ago stopped operations, which is now being cleared away. A ditch eight feet deep and 100 feet long is being dug. Pipe clay was encountered, which slowed up the work some.

Theres are three claims on thi property, which prospectswell. Before the slide took place $600 was taken out in two weeks. Snow water will be used to wash the gravel.

Three men are at work on this claim, Otto Nestler, his son, Lawrence, and Lavier Thomas.—Mountain Messenger.

R. L. P. Bigelow was thes peaker at the educational meeting of Nevada Masonic Lodge held Wednesday night, showing a number of slides of forest scenes. There was a good attendance of Masons and their ladies.

Born To Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hiscox, May 10, 1929, at the Nevada City Sanitarium, a son.

The Dinty Moore dinner at the Elks Club Friday night was well attended.

"Cannonball" Baker, who was recently permitted to race at the rate of sixty miles an hour on the state highways was a Nevada City visitor last week on his way over the Yuba Pass. He made a 412 mile run in a little over seven hours on his last record run. The state law was broken quite considerably but no arrests were made.

The jury disagreed in the trial Friday in which G. Zugnoni of Grass Valley, was charged with reckless driving.

A GREAT VINDICATION

When The Nugget stood alone among the newspapers last year and proclaimed to the voters of this district that Jerry Seawell was a man who would fight for his district it sincerely felt that he would vindicate that trust in legislation affecting this district. He has abundantly done so in his victory with the placer mining bill in the assembly. When the going looked dark after an adverse vote last week, he buckled on his fighting armor and went into the front line trenches in behalf of one of our major assets and by his sheer personality won by a three vote majority. It was a great personal victory and he has come through clean in his promises to the voters of this district. The crocodile tears of the Sutter assemblyman are far more intended for the home folks contingent who may feel that he has been losing his grip on the legislature which has listened to his platitudes for these many years as he harangued against the resumption of placer mining. The dirty tactics of a daily newspaper of the valley section may be classed in the same category. Its attempt to besmirch the fine work of Jerry will die aborning as its tactics are too well known to merit much consideration

The lone handed fight made by Jerry is likely to bring about the formation of a state wide mining association which will be in a position to wield a powerful influence in legislative affairs in behalf of the mining industry which has suffered the whims of willy nilly legislation for many years. The mining profession is totally unorganized as far as effecting any political strength is concerned and this must needs be corrected if we are to have our interests protected. The anti debris crowd kept two paid lobbyists working day and night in the legislature to defeat the Seawell bill and they have been moved over in the senate to keep up their tactics there. The credit for the assembly victory can be placed squarely on the work of Jerry Seawell in his first year of legislative experience. Nevada county is not going to forget his valiant work in its behalf.

The senate fight is going to be tougher on account of the fight made by the San Francisco delegation in behalf of their pet measure for a San Francisco controlled harbor. Senator Cassidy has been the administration spokesman against their desire to take the harbor control from the state and give it to the city and it is hoped that it has not cost him too much prestige at the present moment. Personally the publisher feels that it is of far more moment to Nevada and Placer counties as to whether we have placer mining made possible again than as to whether San Francisco runs her harbor or not That is what Mr. Cassidy was sent there for but this paper is not going to cavil at him on this score although it would be tough if we have to lose the senate vote over an issue which does not affect this district but little if any Senator Allen of Yreka will be a tower of strength in the present fight. Jerry Seawell pointed all his work in the assembly so far toward the one end to seeing the placer mining bill given a victory and in that he outsmarted the opposition.

The Nugget is constrained to remark that it tried to play its part in seeing the legislature vote in our behalf. It supplied Jerry with reprints on the splendid article by W. W Waggoner on the industrial aspect of the gravel mining industry which set forth many inescapable facts for distribution among the assembly members Thursday as soon as the special mining issue was off the press this paper furnished copies to each assemblyman who voted favorably on the measure and also each member of the senate that they might have authentic information regarding the possibilities of the mining industry of this county. There has been so much misinformation given the legislators by the valley bigots in past years that something of an informative nature was necessary at the present time and this paper is happy to have been of some assistance. It wants always to be found fighting earnestly in behalf of our major industry.

A committee of landowners from the Chicago Park section appeared before the grand jury last week and asked that some attention be given the county highway between Grass Valley and Colfax. HILL HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM INJURY

W. D. Hill, general manager of the Parnall Gold Mines Corporation operating the Salmon mine at Cherokee had a narrow escape from death when his car leaped the grade a short ways above the South Yuba bridge on the Downieville highway. He was coming down grade at a good rate of speed and coming thru a deep cut met a machine headed up. To save a headoin collision he crowded too close to the edge of the bank and went over at a point where there is a steep long slope to the river. Luckily a heavy growth of brush was at that point and the car was stopt uninjured. It was hauled back to the road by a large wrecker.

The flashing of the glorious news Wednesday night that the Seawell bill to encourage the resumption of placer mining in California had leaped the assembly hurdle under the skillful guidance of our assemblyman caused a feeling of genuine rejoicing in this county. Nevada county had felt last fall that it had found a person who would fight wholeheartedly for our mining industry. Jerry Seawell has justified that faith in abundant measure and the assembly has shown its good sense by failing to listen to the threadbare argument advanced by the valley bigots and paid lobby working against our measure.

The bill went over by a majority of three votes and is now in the senate for consideration. One of the stalwart members of that body, James M. Allen of Yreka will assist Senator Cassidy in the work in the senate. The bill failed in the the senate two years ago by but one vote and it is to be hoped that it can mount that barrier and reach the governor's office.

Congratulations have been pouring in on Jerry from all over his district for his valiant fight in behalf of the bill which means so much to Nevada county which has been throttled by the valley interests for nearly fifty years. For a young legislator to achieve such a notable victory and with a paid lobby working actively to defeat his efforts, is a great feather in his cap and should assure his services as a legislature representing this district for many years to come. This paper feels that its efforts to elect him last fall have been justified by the record he has thus far made representing this assembly district.

Captain Ryan, of the Citizens Military Training Camp at Fort Scott, visited the Nevada City high school, on Thursday, May 9. The purpose of his visit was to talk to the boys of the high school and extend an invitation to them to visit the military summer camp. It is open to all boys over seventeen years of age and also to adults.

The army of the United States has sponsored movements like this in order to make men out of our boys. Other organizations to help the youths of our country are: Boy Scouts of America, Campfire Girls, and Girl Scouts.

At the military training camp they boys train one month out of the summer. Their fare is paid to and from camp, and all their food and uniforms are furnished. This gives many boys the opportunity of attending the camp. The days spent at camp should be very interesting to the boys besides aiding in their health, as is shown by the progrom Captain Ryan presented. In the mornings the boys are given a drill besides different physical exercises. The afternoons are devoted to different sports ,while the evening is spent in attending picture shows or other amusements.

The military training camp is a wonderful place for boys, who are not working, to spend their summers, because they are not only trained in the military sence but also in personal health and citizenship.

EXAMINER VISITS

Mr. Baker, from the History Department of the University of California inspected our school, Monday, May 6. He stated that our school is rated on the amount of work done by seniors leaving our school and entering University of California as freshmen. Our school, this year is rated in the "B" class, and in order to raise this standard we must have a group of students enter the University of California who will pass all subjects taken. Our school was unable to make the "A" class this year, due to the fact that only one student entered the University of California last year, and it is impossible to rate any school by one student.

All the pupils are trying hard to obey the rules and laws passed at school in order to help make our school on the "A" list next year.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, May 11, (Special to The Nugget)—Beautiful country! Delightful days! Reservoirs full for irrigation. Yet we are wanting rain. Nothing can dispense moisture, as a good rain would. We are sorry to learn that feed is short through a section in the lower mountains. However stock are being moved up country.

The Coughlan Brothers and Bill Vizzard passed through with their cattle Friday evening, camping at the Clerkin place over night.

Joseph Hartley is moving his sheep to ranges near the old Reader place. Two large droves passed through Tuesday and Wednesday—over 3000 sheep altogether.

Ed Fornier of Downieville was a visitor Friday, while enroute to the lower country.

W. E. Moulton and Dr. A. J. Powell made a trip to North Bloomfield Friday afternoon. Miss Louise Moulton returned with them to spend the weeks end at home.

Harry Browning made a trip to Nevada City Saturday to bring his father, A. Browning, and his brother, Clyde, to their home in French Corral.

Miss Louise Moulton and Miss B McMinn made a trip to Grass Valley to meet Miss Frances Moulton, who came from Sacramento to latives W. E. Moulton was a business visitor in Marysville Saturday.

The Uunion Sunday school which is superintended by H. Todd of Sacramento, held a picnic at Penn Valley Sunday. A large delegation from this place was in attendance and reported having a splendid time.

The regular meeting of the S. J. R. W. A. was held in San Juan Sunday afternoon, F. Conner ,chairman of the ways and means committee and Mrs. Conner were in attendance. Mr. Conner has a happy faculty of untangling difficulties and through his advice and planned and the meeting adjourned with a happier outlook of meeting obligations.

Clyde Browning made a trip to Alleghany Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart of Grass Valley spent Sunday witht heir friend, Miss Millie Clerkin.

Chester Peterson of North Bolomffield and Joe Swazey were Sunday visitors.

Bill McCullough was a visitor Sunday.

G. L. Sweetland spent a few days in Nevada City this week.

We omitted to include in last week's items news of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Smith, which event took place in San Francisco, April 27th when she became the bride of Chas. Clotire of that city. Miss Dorothy was the youngest daughter of the late F. A. Smith. She was born and spent her childhood days in French Corral. Several years ago the family moved to San Francisco, where she grew to charming womanhood. Her sweet disposition won for her many friends from whom she has best wishes for a happy future. At last accounts the newlyweds were spending their honeymoon in Los Angeles.

Mrs, E. Roumage of Auburn was a guest of the Clerkin family from Monday until Wednesday. They made a pleasure trip to Grass Valley and Nevada City Tuesday.

Chas. Wells and Emile Verch visited their friends, Mr. and Mrs. De Prati Sunday and Monday. Mr. Wells, who has been in poor health, has recently returned from Gibraltar. He visited Nevada county at the time of the golden jubilee, and has ever had a desire to return. Mr. Verch has mining interests in Camptonville to which place both gentlemen have gone to remain for a time. They expressed themselves as quite charmed with this section of the country. We feel sure they could not find a better health resort.

N. B. Bishop and Thos. Meyers were Nevada City visitors this week.

Well, this section was visited by Rains this week, but it was W. C. Rains, representing the East Bay dairy business, who was oliciting patronage from the Ridge.

The many friends of Mrs. G. W. Hunt are grieved to learn of her death and deepest sympathy goes out to her sorrowing relatives. Mrs. Hunt was an early resident of the San Juan Ridge and in the prosperous little town of Sweetland spent childhood and young girlhood days. She was the only daughter of the late Wm. Warner, one of the early pioneers of that place. After her marriage to Geo. W. Hunt she went to live in San Francisco. Her husband, and daughter, Elsa, their only child now Mrs. C. Roach, and two brothers, Billie and C. W. Warner, are left to mourn her loss. She ever cherished her love for their old home place, and every summer spent several weeks on the San Juan Ridge.

We had not recovered from the shock of news of the death of Mrs. G. W. Hunt, when comes like a thunderbolt the news that George T. Coffey had passed from life Wednesday a. m. We will take long to realize that genial, generous, wholesouled George Coffey has been taken from us. He was one of our own French Corral boys, and spent most of his life time here and in San Juan. For many years he was associated with mining interests in the Klondyke. His name will ever be associated with the early history of that country's mining industry. He and his family made Oakland heir home for many years past His wife who was Ora Miller in her girlhood, daughter of the late N .C. Miller, passed away about four years ago. Two sons, Wesley and Ralph, an aged mother, one sister, Mrs. Mary Miller, three brothers, Hubert, John, and Edgar ,survive him. Our dear friend George Coffey will be missed and mourned for years to come.

Unjustly Accused

Something in the street car was burning.

The passengers sniffed, glanced at one another, looked into their pockets, investigated their seats.

Finally the thin cloud of smoke was traced to a gentleman's umbrella. It appeared that in the folds of the rainstick some inconsiderate person had deposited a burning cigarette.

The passengers snickered.

This accomplished, he glanced around him and eyed, with particular suspicion, the lady sitting next to him.

Roman Utensils

While the housewife of today may reasonably pride herself on the conveniences her kitchen affords, she need not smile too superciliously at the thought of the rude makeshifts of days gone by. She would certainly not do so were she to spend a little time inspecting the kitchen and other household utensils that were in use 2,000 years ago, as exhibited in the National museum at Naples. Saucepans lined with silver, pails richly inlaid with arabesques in silver and shovels handsomely carved figure among the household goods of these times.

The Past Is Present

What reply shall we make if our past can only whisper: "Your success has been wholly due to injustice and falsehood, wherefore it behooves you once more to deceive and to lie." No man cares to let his eyes rest on his acts of disloyalty, weakness, or treachery; and all the events of bygone days which we cannot contemplate calmly and peacefully, with satisfaction and confidence, trouble and restrict the horizon which the days that are not yet are forming far away.—Maeterlinck.

Error Led to Travel

How an Englishman made a mistake, then saw America on a dead man's ticket, has recently been told in London. According to his story he joined a party of Scandinavian emigrants crossing the landing stage at Liverpool in the belief that he was on the way to the Isle of Man, and went up the gangway of an Atlantic liner. A few hours later he began to suspect he was going astray, and mentioned the matter to a member of the party of emigrants who could, he had discovered, speak English. "Next stop Queenstown," the man said, "and after that New York. But never mind. When we were crossing the North sea one of our party died, so we have a spare ticket, to which you are welcome. Come with us to America." After some reflection the vacationist accepted, and saw America.

Infant Confederate

Probably the youngest soldier on either side in the Civil war was George H. Jacobs, a native of North Carolina. When he was nine years old he enlisted as a drummer boy in the Confederate army with his father in the company of Camden Grays. He was made a full-fledged soldier when he was twelve and he served throughout the war, both he and his father being with General Lee at the surrender, at Appomattox. Jacobs was born August 20, 1854, at Nag's Head, where his father kept a hotel before the war. He died November 25, 1908. Most of his war days were spent in Virginia. He had a pony and marched with the regular army. At one battle he had to lie in a ditch during the heaviest part of the fight.

CURRENT OBSERVATIONS

(Midanco)

Along with the other pleasant sights incident to springi n Nevada City is the inspiring sight of a brand new Old Glory flyning from the flag pole at the high school grounds.

No better education can be given the boys and girls just leaving the confines of childhood and entering the first responsibilities of maturity than the principles and standards by which this country was instituted and is maintained and all of which are exemplified in the national flag. Each part of the flag has its own historical significance. The thirteen alternate stripes of red and white representing the thirteen original colonies which broke the yoke ofs ubserviency and the forty-eight glistening white stars exemplifying the present union of states, typifying the progress which the nation has made under the great principles laid down by the unselfish men who founded the republic; the colors blue for justice, white for purity, and red for the courage and lifeblood of those who give it for the perpetuation of the flag and all it stands for, are all of great significance and something that all future citizens of the country should know and appreciate.

If!

The small boy, aged six, was making a tiny wreath.

"What is it for?" inquired his mother.

"You know you said you heard a mouse in the pantry?"

"Yes."

"And you know you said you thought of buying a trap?"

"Yes."

"Well, if you buy a trap, and if you catch the mouse, and if they drown the mouse after it is caught, and if the mouse is buried, and if we give it a nice funeral, we shall need a wreath, shan't we?"

Generosity Inexpensive

The reputation of generosity is to be purchased pretty cheap; it does not depend so much upon a man's general expense as it does upon his giving handsomely when it is proper to give at all. A man, for instance, who should give a servant four shillings would pass for covetous, while he who gave him a crown would be reckoned generous; so that the difference of those two opposite characters turns upon one shilling.

We're All Egotists

Most of us like to palm off our egotism as self confidence. Purposeful action, however, may be founded on a belief in "I," for, without that belief there would be inaction.—American Magazine.

Curb for Tempers

You do not have to be a "Yes" man to avoid being a grouch, says the American Magazine. You can refuse to concede an inch in regard to what you believe to be wrong without getting angry about it.

BETWEEN THE LINES

Down at the place where we put the dinner,
Where there's a pain in the part called inner,
Down where we ought to be inches thinner,

Down where we'd hate to have someone strike us,
Down where the belt buckle likes to spike us,

Down where some people are hippopotomi;

Down where, in brief, there is too much matter,

She'll Learn

A young woman, one of the newlyweds, who set up housekeeping, wanted to show her hubby how smart she was one day before the warm wave struck the city, so she called up a coal dealer and ordered "a ton of coal." The coal dealer asked her as to what kind of coal, the young woman failing to specify whether it be pea, nut, stove or furnace coal. When the dealer got through informing her of the different sizes of coal she asked for the "nicest shade of black coal." Apparently the young bride thought she was purchasing a hat or a dress.—Salem News.

Truth About Petrification

There is an old superstition that if a piece of hickory wood is put in water it will turn to stone in seven years. Of course it is not true. No wood ever turns to stone. Even wood which petrifies does not actually turn to stone. The wood merely acts as a mold while minerals from water or the atmosphere are deposited as the wood decays. The length of time required for an object to petrify depends upon circumstances. It may be a few years or a thousand. Usually it requires a long period.—Exchange.

Women Getting Feminine

"This design for a dinner dress is infinitely more feminine," says the Woman's Home Companion of a new Paris model. "It certainly is," said the crabbed editor. "It leaves corduroy trousers and high rubber boots miles behind."

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acid ity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember , is just as good for ...dren, too, and pleasant for them, to take.

WHAT DR. CALDWELL LEARNED IN 47 YEARS PRACTICE

A physician watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the system and is not habit forming. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for anybody's system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly.

"Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to the nearest druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

FROM OUR READERS

THE FRANK DISASTER

Going eastward in southern British Columbia through the Crow's Nest Pass of the Canadian Rockies one enters Alberta and for several miles rides through many small coal mining towns whose population is decidedly foreign, living in squatty, ill-kept homes, and tenements as much alike as though they were cast from the same mould. There are no lawns, no flowers—nothing of beauty to brighten the leisure hours of the people, who spend a great part of their lives delving for coal.

Sometimes the mines are close at hand bu tmostly the coal beds are high up on the mountain side, for the hills rise on either side to a height of several hundred feet.

This coal region, which supplies large amounts of fuel to both western Canada and the states across the border lies about 40 miles north of the international boundary anl Glacier National Park.

Forty miles east of Fernie, along the main highway to Calgary, is situated the little town of Frank—or rather what is left of it, for on April 29th, 1903 occurred one of the most disastrous of its kind ever known.

The town of Frank lies in a narrow pass on the Crow's Nest river at an elevation of 4200 feet above sea level and just at the foot of Turtle mountain whose precipitious side rises abruptly on the west to a height of 7204 feet.

Leading directly along the east flank of the mountain and dipping steeply into the hill is a coal vein averaging 14 feet in thickness which had been mined for several years andis supposed to have contributed toward the disaster.

It was known that large cracks had developed at the top of the mountain and for many years the Indians regarded it with such fear that they would not camp near it.

On the fateful night in April, entirely unaware of the terrible fate that awaited them in their homes before the dawn the town was wrapt in slumber; at the railroad station a steaming locomotive awaited an incoming freight to boost it over the pass. Suddenly at two o'clock in the morning, with a terrific road that shook the ground like an earthquake, the whole top face of the mountain broke loose from the peak overlooking the town 3000 feet below hurlting more than 100 million tons of rock down upon the flimsy houses beneath and crushing them like so many egg shells.

The path of the slide was 4000 feet in width. It buried the town to a depth of 120 feet under huge blocks of limestone, in many cases 15 or 20 feet across.

The terrific speed it attained from its 3000 foo drop set it across the site of the town and for 6200 feet, or nearly a mile and a quarter, away from the foot of the mountain.

Under its mass lie the bodies of 91 victims, crushed while they slept, a hotel, a bank, a locomotive and the railroad station. From this portion of the town but one soul miraculously survived—a little girl 3 years old was found srying softly atop one of the timestone boulders. How she got there is a mystery, but it is supposed that the blast of air accompanying the slide threw her up out of harm's way.

The night shift at work on the coal vein within the hill alarmed by the slide hurried out, to find that the whole top workings had been sheared off as with a knife but they were able to make their escape without much difficulty.

No attempt has ever been made to recover the bodies of any of the victims. The highway now passes over the slide and the railroad is rebuilt through a gap in it and along the sides of the road sorrowing relatives of those whose tomb is far beneath have marked the mooth sides of limestone blocks 'sacred to the memory of" as nearly as they are able to judge the locaion of the crushed and flattened homes.

A government commission has reported new cracks and movement of rather alarming proportions along the crest of the mountain and have advised the remaining inhabitants of he little town o abandon it, but the human species, like the ant whose nest one stumbles on, seem oblivious to danger and will probably stick by their homes to eventually meet the same fate as their neighbors.

Phil Blume of Truckee and H. O. Kohler of Washington attended a session of the grand jury Wednesday.

SUPERVISORS ARE GIVEN FINE RECOMMENDATION

The board of supervisors of Nevada county are given a fine recommendation by the special grand jury committee on legislation and county government in a bulletin issued to the press on Friday and which is as follows:

WHEREAS, The members of the Board of Supervisors have for some years been criticized as to the funds maintained and the arrangement of their budget and it being the general impression that the tax rate has been excessive and that the expenditures have not been in line with economy, and

WHEREAS The former Grand Jury called attention to the lrage amounts carried in the several funds, and

WHEREAS, His Honor, Raglan Tuttle requested the present Grand Jury to investigate and recommend a plan that would decrease the tax rate or else use the surplus funds for road building, and

WHEREAS, We find from the very exhaustive report prepared by William Dolge & Company, certified public accountants of San Francisco, that the criticism directed against the Board of Supervisors has been unwarranted,

WHEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That this Grand Jury indirse the actions of the Supervisors in both the tax levy and the arragnement of the budget.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That due publicity be given to the findings of the Grand Jury.

C. E. Clinch,
Bernice Glasson,
Joseph Stenger,
Elizabeth Armstrong,
Committee on Legislation and County Government Act.

The special audit made by a San Francisco firm at the instance of the grand jury states that the supervisors appear to be administering the affairs of the county in an economical manner and only a careful study of the forthcoming budget will reveal where any reductions might possibly be made in the tax rate. The large reserve balance in the county strong box is listed as being more apparent than real when the various funds are segregated. The county auditor and county treasurer are also favorably mentioned in the report.

COMPLETION OF THE UREN MINING ARTICLE

Careful test made of the granite country rock along Deer Creek near the Mountaineer mine shows a small amount of gold in all the rock mass. Out as Cement Hill innumerable small stringers in the granite carry gold to such an extent that one can get quite a respectable pan prospect almost anywhere within quite quite a large area. Here, in early days, much of the surface was washed off by the hydraulic process, as in gravel mining, to recover this fine gold.

We have in this part of the Sierra Nevadas a much disturbed area of slates, schists, serpentine and other sedimentary rocks lying in irregular and narrow north and south belts. The resultant faults and fracturing have created paths for mineralization. The more shattered the country, the more opportunity for enrichment. The famous Tightner mine at Alleghany had practically all of its enrichment close to a series of faults and the Rising Sun mine at Colfax owes its enrichment to the same source.

Much wealth still lies in Nevada county's hills and mining will be a profitable business for generations to come, both in quartz and in the placer gravels. Many quartz veins, like the Empire and the North Star are not visible on the surface for long distances and will be found unexpectedly.

There is said to be enough placer gravel on the North Bloomfield divide, where the rims of the channel are 7500 feet apart and the depth of gravel as much as 400 feet above its trough, to make hydraulic mining profitable for more than fifty years. In time it will all be worked. Let us hope that the Seawell bill will mark the awakening from 40 years of depression in our historic placer mining camps, for these old places bring back to many of us memories of the past; the first coming of the white man into these rugged hills—yes even more than that to those of us who first saw the light of day here—our very existence is linked inseparably with those good old days of the monitor and the rocker.

James P. Coughlan of North Columbia was a Nevada City visitor

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Hutchison and son, Richard, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Green visited Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchison over the week end.

Mrs. Grace Raymond of San Francisco came up for a visit with her sister, Mrs. F. M. Masters.

M. J. Coughlan, has so far recovered from a fall while fighting fire near Browns Valley, that he was able to return to his home at North Columbia. His sister and mother returned with him.

L. E. Calanan of the Ray Ranch was in Nevada City Monday.

IDAHO MARYLAND HISTORY

streams they went, working the the ground for surface deposits and washing the earth in their primitive pans or rockers. Hill after hill, valley after valley, stream after stream they tested, but in this region the way seemed to lead inevitably to Grass Valley. The rich but shallow deposits were already being worked there before the end of 1849.

Among the miners there was always the crude belief that the gold of the streams came from some golden storehouse, which they almost wistfully named the "Mother Lode". Let them find this Mother Lode, they thought, and the gold could be dug out with shovels. Now in Grass Valley the gold-bearing quartz came to the surface in many places, and the quartz on the surface was often rich.

So rich was it that the miners became afraid the value of gold would be lowered and the metal demonetized, as later happened with silver. Accordingly, the miners limited the size of lode claims to blocks 100 feet square.

The gold-bearing quartz was first discovered in the fall of 1850 at Gold Hill, and other quartz veins were quickly developed. That same year the Empire began its workings. The following year the North Star and the first section of the Idaho Maryland mines were worked.

It was twelve years before the Idaho Maryland mines became profitable, for the workings near the surface proved to be poor in values. It must be remembered, however, that gold mining in the fifties of the last century was carried on in most primitive fashion, and only the richest ores could be worked profitably. The miners had little idea of how to extract the gold, and it often happened that ore containing as much as $20 a ton was mined at a loss.

In order to extract the gold, it was necessary to crush the rock, and the best contrivance the miners could devise in the beginning was to stamp the ore with tree trunks tipped with iron, and in this way pulverise it. Furthermore, they had no idea of extracting the gold from the so-called tailings. They were allowed to pile up or flow away, containing often as much as five dollars or more of gold a ton.

It is a well-known story in California of how the Chinese would work over these rejected tailings and make a good living out of what the miners had discarded. Indeed, there are many cases where, in our time, mining companies worked profitably for years extracting gold from the tailings.

Another thing which operate against successful lode mining those days was the fact that th discovery of gold in another place would draw the miners away. Consequently, with the discovery of the Comstock mines, the Nevada county mines were almost abandoned. So rich were they, however, that again and again they succeeded in coming back, until in our time, it may be said, that the wealth of Grass Valley is stabilized.

In 1863, the great ore shoot was discovered on the first section of the Idaho Maryland mines, known as the Roannaise or Eureka claim. It was worked for approximately 1,600 feet, dipping in that distance from 100 to 600 or 700 feet in depth, where it ran into Idah property. Before this section was shut down in 1877, it was estimated to have produced over $5,700,000 of gold.

Through the Idaho property the ore shoot ran and was worked unt 1893, when it crossed the Maryland boundary. Litigation followed and the Maryland mine acquired the Idaho property for a payment o $85,000. The vein in the Idah mine had been worked for a distance of 3,500 feet and produced between 1868 and 1893 over $11,400,000 gold and paid $5,093,00 in dividends.

The property was then operated under the management of the well known Dorsey family until 1901 and the old Dorsey vein was discovered, from which over $1,000,000 of gold was recovered. It was impossible to work this property long with a profit, owing to the antiquated equipment which necessitated the ore being transported grea distances and transferred many times before it reached the surfac so in 1901, the property was shut down.

THE TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

Several provisions of the traffic ordinance have become hazy in the public mind since the adoption of the ordinance and its publication in THE NUGGET last July, and it is the purpose of this and subsequent articles to recall such provisions for the benefit of the automobile and pedestrian public. The first will cover the stop signs and their significance.

"SECTION 21. BOULEVARD STOPS. The following streets and parts of streets are hereby declared to constitute boulevards for the purpose of this section: Broad street from Plaza to junction of East and West Broad; Pine from Broad to Sacramento street; Sacramento street from Plaza to Zion street; Zion street from Sacramento street to city limits; York and Washington streets from Broad street to Coyote street; Main street from Washington street to the Plaza.

"Every operator of a vehicle or street car traversing any street intersecting any boulevard shall bring such vehicle or street car to a full stop at the place where such street meets the prolongation of the nearest property line of such boulevard, subject, however, to the directions of any stop and go signal of police officer at such intersections.

"The Chief of Police is hereby authorized and required to place and maintain or cause to be placed and maintained upon each and every street intersecting a boulevard and at or near the property line of the boulevard appropriate signs upon the street or devices or marks in the roadway, such signs, devices or marks to bear the word "STOP" or the words "BOULEVARD STOP" in such position and with letters of a size to be clearly legible from a distance of fifty (50) feet along the street intersecting the boulevard".

The provisions of this section contemplate making through ttreets of those streets designated as boulevards and for the control of traffic on the streets crossing such boulevards to the extent that all such cross traffic must stop before entering the boulevard. This is designed to eliminate crossing accidents for in effect it puts the burden of blame upon any machine which does not observe the stop signs.

The stop signs now in place alone are all that is necessary for the enforcement of the ordinance; although provision is made for an alternate method of marking stop signs upon the pavement the better and more uniform method is the installation of the standard California State Auomotbile Association signs which are uniform throughout the state.

The ordinance contemplates a full stop: this is designed to carry out the old slogan, "Stop, Look and Listen". The purpose of the stop is to give the operator about to enter a boulevard the opportunity of carefully looking up and down such boulevard and choosing an appropriate and safe opportunity of driving into the boulevard, with due regard for the right of way of vehicles lawfully using the boulevard.

SECOND JUICE CONTRACT SECURED BY DISTRICT

A second contract from teh Pacific Gas has been secured by the officials of the Nevada Irrigation District which is expected to start producing some revenue in 1931 and o be capable of bringing in better than $82,000 annually in 1932 and thereafter. The bond syndicate stated it would be necessary to raise ome $100,000 for the July 1st interest payment by land tax or by he business men of the county buying up the coupons and holding hem for future returns. A large deficit in the funds to meet the interest payment is looming up and nd the syndicate which has been handling the bonds is offering to finance the purchase of the Placer ounty ditches if the hundred thouand is forthcoming.

In Five MILLION HOMES TONIGHT

There are times when all a mother's love can't soothe a fretful baby. No way of telling just what's wrong, yet something must be done. Castoria time! A few drops, and Baby has dropped off to sleep. Yet this marvelous means of quieting a restless infant is utterly harmless. There is not one ingredient but what all doctors know and approve, and would let you give your baby every day in the week. In fact Castoria is a purely vegetable product. Gas pains, constipation, even diarrhea can be dispelled in this same manner. Castoria is older than you are, but physicians still say "nothing better for babies." An old-fashioned remedy if you count its years, but parents are old-fashioned who still raise babies without its aid! And at least five million modern mothers keep it handy day and night, for twenty-five million bottles were bought last year! Buy yours now; don't wait until you need it.

A large meeting was held Wednesday at the district headquarters at which time Dr. C. P. Jones was authorized to act as the district's agent in endeavoring to sell water to municipalities below the district's boundaries. The report prepared by the syndicate showed that it would cost around nine million dollars before the district was fully functioning, which is considerably different than the early roseate orecasts of several years ago.

Humane

John came running into his father's study with nose bleeding copiously, and, while first aid was being rendered, explained that he had received a blow from another boy.

"Well, did you hit him back?" inquired father.

"No, father, you see, he was smaller than me."

Father's heart warmed at such chivalry.

"And, besides, he was a poor boy—"

Father's face beamed at such magnanimity.

"And you can never tell what those poor boys can do."

Iceland in History

Iceland was an independent republic from 930 to 1263, when it joined with Norway. The two came under Danish rule in 1381. When Norway separated from Denmark in 1814, Iceland remained under Denmark. In 1918 Denmark acknowledged Iceland as a sovereign state, united with Denmark only in that the Danish king, Christian X, was also to be king of Iceland. Its permanent neutrality was guaranteed. Provisionally until 1940 Denmark has charge of its foreign affairs, and a joint committee of six reviews bills of importance to both states.

Swedish Wedding Custom

In Sweden weddings formerly took place under cover of night. Behind the high altar of the ancient church at Husaby, in Gothland, a collection of long lances with sockets, for torches, may yet be seen. These were served out to the groomsmen on such occasions, both for defense and illumination. Those men were the best who could be found to volunteer their services. One wedding superstition is that a bride, on leaving home for the wedding trip, must step into the carriage with the right foot first. She should do the same when she first enters the home prepared for her after the bridal trip.

SOME EXCUSE FOR A NAME LIKE THIS BUT NOT FOR YOU

After you read the following dispatch which appeared in all the paprs which carry United Press reports, you realize that there are many people who think thy are more clever than the thief, and that the home is more safe than a bank. Here is the story:

BOSTON, April 23—(United Press) All his life, Joseph Wawrzyneczsk had been suspicious of banks, so kept $2800 in savings in a flachlight, utilizing the space in which the battery usually is placed. The flashlight and money have disappeared. The loser, an old man bent with years of labor, told police that he slept with his trousers on and kept the flashlight in apocket as a precaution against theft. But he awoke a few mornings ago to find his savings gone.

This man with the unrponouncable name might have saved all his money and had interst at four per cent in addition if he had only known that a bank is the safest place to keep money.
